The bioequalist design was created to explain why spiritual beings look very much like humans and the possibility of extraterrestrials looking like humans.

The term also expands on why intelligent life forms like humans, intelligent spiritual beings and extraterrestrials are alike in terms of form and in social, technological, political, economic, spiritual, religious and cultural issues.

Bioequalist design is part of scientific bioequalism, which is a scientific theory that seeks empirical evidence and narratives that justify bioequalism and bioequality.

Bioequalistic design also has the theory of bioequalistic evolution as a subconscious, which argues that similar life forms tend to evolve in a similar way, as well as sharing similar characteristics, in addition to considering the common ancestors of similar life forms. Also accepting the possibility that there was a big bang in the spiritual-extraphysical question long before the big bang of the universe we are in, but only through technodeism to discover it.
